

PICKHACKS

SPONSOR NEWSLETTER | SEPTEMBER 2019

DEAR SPONSOR,

Welcome to the very first sponsor newsletter! If you're receiving this, that means your company has offered to join the very elite group helping support the second annual PickHacks!

A few weeks ago, we had the opportunity to attend Hackcon, the Major League Hacking organizer conference! At the event, PickHacks featured during the opening keynote by Mike Swift (the CEO of MLH)! We're so glad that PickHacks is beginning to grow on a national scale, and we are grateful for your support of this event.

Christopher Gu and Luis Ocampo
PickHacks Co-Directors

PLANNING UPDATES

We've got a ton of early birds (all of you) already confirmed, and for that we are extremely grateful! We've already raised over half our budget, and we're actually still in the early phase of reaching out to companies. If you have any good contacts, we'd love to get them involved!

We're proud to announce the official location of PickHacks 2020: the Gale Bullman Multipurpose Center here in our very own back yard.

There are some cool plans already in the works for this year's venue: food in racketball rooms, sleep in the yoga room, hacking on the court, and timed 100 m races at the start of the hour, every hour. Last one's a joke, or maybe it isn't...we'll see!

SPONSOR ADDITIONS

SPONSORS

CBOE
Centene Corporation
Crowdstrike
Honeywell
J.B. Hunt
Mastercard
Nestle Information Technology
NISC
Panera Bread
S&T Office of the Chancellor
S&T College of Electrical and Computer Engineering
S&T College of Arts, Sciences, and Business
S&T Computer Science
Software Design Partners
Tradebot
Veterans United Home Loans

PARTNERS

MLH
Digital Ocean
Sketch
Redbull
Monster Energy